To Whom It May Concern:

I am a Wal-Mart customer. Since I not a rich man, I love their prices. As you know they want to get into the banking business to cut some of their costs. Target already has this ability. There are banking interest who are fighting this right. This is not fair. This company has the public interest at heart. I have never felt that a bank had my interest at heart, only my wallet. If they can cut their credit card transaction cost, I will be the one who benefits.
Goverment must be just.
